Snowbird is celebrated for its exceptional snowfall, vast and wide-ranging terrain, and easy accessibility from the Salt Lake City area. Intermediate and advanced skiers will find endless opportunities in the Birds winter playground, while beginners have options all over the mountain to hone in their skills. With 2,500 acres of skiable terrain, 500 inches of the greatest snow on earth, and Utah's longest ski and snowboard season, Snowbird is an absolutely superb winter destination.

Snowbasin burst onto the world stage in the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. It has high speed lifts, gondolas and tram taking skiers/boarders and food lovers to 4 sumptuous lodges. The mountain receives 400+ inches of snow each season, with 3,000 vertical feet, and 113 runs: Beginner 20%, Intermediate 50%, Advanced 30%.

Powder Mountain It is North America's largest ski area with 7,000 skiable acres and receives more than 500+ inches every ski season. Even on the busiest day there is one person per 2 acres of terrain. There are 3,000 acres of traditional lifts with wide open groomed trails. The remaining 4,000 is a dream come true for those seeking powder paradise. The mountain boasts 2,000 vertical feet with 135 runs: Beginner 24%, Intermediate 40%, Advanced 35%.
